Your Itinerary in Detail

A road-trip to Leh is among the most exciting journeys you can treat yourself to. This almost mystical journey is challenging, exhilarating and not to forget, it's got the bragging rights that few road-trips come with. The 2500 km-plus itinerary you are about to check out, takes you through some of the best parts of North India. Leh is, of course, a part of this, but so are Manali, Spiti, Srinagar, Amritsar and many more. Dig in!

Day 1 Arrive Chandigarh

 Enjoy a city tour of Chandigarh.

Kick off your ride in the brilliantly planned city of Chandigarh with a visit to the Rock Garden, brainchild and work of Nek Chand, and also the city's prime attraction. It's popular for its statues and sculptures, all of which are made from construction waste and household discard. Chandigarh is also home to Asia's largest rose garden, the Zakir Hussain Rose Garden. It hosts Chandigarh's annual Rose Festival which is held from February - March. Designer Le Corbusier's Open Hand Monument is a spot that you should visit after sunset, as the hoisted hand symbol looks stunning with all its lighting switched on.

Day 3 Chandigarh - Manali

 Hotel Sarthak Resorts Or Similar

 Ride from hotel in Chandigarh to resort in Manali.

To ride to Manali, take NH 205, which you can reach via Hoshiyarpur. Stay on NH 205 till you reach Bilaspur, where you need to switch to NH 154. Follow NH 154 till Mandi. Thus far, the pit-stops worth making en route include Shere-e-Punjab (before Bilaspur), Hotel Raja (in Jarol) and Visco Resort (in Mandi). Although regular fair, the food at these places is good, the restaurants are clean, and prices reasonable. At Mandi, switch to NH 3, also called the Manali Highway. The road hugs the turquoise-blue Beas River all the way to Manali. Head towards Manali, and you will pass Dhakpo Shedrupling, a Buddhist Monastery nestled in the hills alongside NH 3. It's a school and place of refuge for Tibetans. This perch also gives you the best view of Kullu's picturesque surroundings. Manali is another 33 km from here.

Day 4 Manali

 Hotel Sarthak Resorts Or Similar

 Explore the town of Manali.

Explore local Manali (mostly Old Manali) on your first day at the hill station. Manali is believed to be where Sage Manu stepped on to land from his arc to restore life after a great deluge submerged the world. The Manu Temple located in Old Manali is the sole temple in the world dedicated to the sage. Just a walk away from the Manu Temple is the other prominent shrine in Old Manali, the 500-plus year-old Hadimba Temple. This temple is named after Hadimba, the demon wife of Bhima, the Pandava. If a hang-out spot is what you're looking for, head straight to the Manali Club House. It has a restaurant, gaming zones and the adventurous ones will surely enjoy zip-lining across the Manaslu River. Most of Manali's hep restaurants are also located close by. These include Johnson's Cafe, the Lazy Dog Lounge and Il Forno. The latter is a rustic, heritage home and the one to pick if you crave for some authentic Italian food.

Located north of Manali, Solang Valley is a famous adventure sport spot, especially popular among skiing enthusiasts. When it is not clad in snow, adrenaline junkies arrive here to indulge in zorbing and paragliding. While there's ample for the adventurers, the delightful vistas of the majestic Himalayas are sure to keep even the laid back enthralled all day long. Note: All adventure sport activities are on your own.

Your next attraction before descending into Leh is Tanglang La (17,480 feet above sea level), one of the highest motorable mountain passes on the planet. Famished already? You could drop by the Trishul Bakery at Karu. It is located just off the highway, inside the local military base. However, don't hesitate, it's open to public. If you feel like grabbing a bite, the Army post at Khardung La maintains a cafe that doles out piping-hot snacks and tea at phenomenally affordable prices. From Khardung La, head to the Samstanling Monastery in Sumur. It's a 140-year-old monastery popular for its Buddhist murals. Next, stop at Diskit, known for the biggest monastery in Nubra. The highlight of the Diskit Monastery is a 22-metre tall Maitreya Buddha statue that overlooks the valley. Head further to Hundur, where you can ride the rare double-humped camel (found only in Nubra and Kazakhstan). Ahead of Hunder lies Turtuk, the furthest accessible point in Nubra.  Visit the Golden Temple.

Begin your day by paying a visit to the Harmandir Sahib (Golden Temple), the most revered Sikh Shrine in the world. Now, a visit to the Golden Temple is absolutely incomplete without tasting the Gurudwara's Langar. Despite being a simple fair, it is, undoubtedly the most delicious meal you will have had in a while. The infamous Jaliyaanwaala Bagh should be your next stop for the day. It is located outside the Golden Temple's compound. This is where General Dyer ordered his troops to open fire on unarmed protesters gathered in the garden compound on 13th April, 1919. Lots of protesters died due to bullet injuries; the bullet marks on the wall can still be seen here. Before you get out of the city, make sure to make a halt at Giani Lassi. This hole-in-the-wall shop has been dishing thick, frothy, makkhhan-laden (cream) lassies in XL-sized tumblers. Just one of these bad boys should keep you full till noon, if not longer. Other notable restaurants that are worth your while and money include the Kesar Dhaba (for Paranthas and Phirnis) and Bharavan da Dhaba (for Kulchas and Dal Makhani). Next, head a couple of kilometres out of the Golden Temple compound to the Durgiana Temple. Also called Lakshmi Narayan Mandir, the architecture of the Durgiana Temple mirrors that of the Golden Temple. Goddess Durga, Goddess Lakshmi and Lord Vishnu are worshipped here.
